Watts Thermostatic Mixing Valves Set the New Standard

Specifying the proper combination of thermostatic mixing valves is essential to safely distribute water at temperatures hot enough to kill Legionella bacteria while protecting end users from scalding and thermal shock injuries. Our new 1170-M2 Series mixing valves are ASSE 1017 listed and are ideal for use at the hot water source to limit and maintain hot water service temperature in domestic and radiant systems. Our new MMV-M1 Series mixing valves are ASSE 1016 and ASSE 1070 listed and provide the precise temperature control needed for single or multiple fixture applications. Suitable for both residential and commercial applications, Watts thermostatic mixing valves feature "best in class" flow rates, integral check valves, screen filters and a lockable, tamper-resistant temperature adjustment.

Water Conservation

Water Comfort

Water Safety

Zurn has a 100-year tradition of developing quality engineered products to meet the growing needs of water conservation, water safety, water control, and water comfort. The Zurn difference fills the void between a manufacturer that simply produces commercial plumbing products and one that is focused on system solutions. Zurn Engineered Water Solutions™ provides a systems approach for the building owner and specifier that promotes value and performance to deliver sustained savings.
